MOTHER'S DAY — MAY 13

For nearly a half century, the people of the United States have been observing the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day, with appropriate services in the churches of the land, where individuals are accustomed to commemorate holy things.

In 1914, Congress designated the day which is widely observed in other countries, as well as our own. It differs from the earlier celebrations of ancient peoples whose festivities did not carry the same sense of appreciation for individual mothers.

Words of man are incapable of expressing proper appreciation of the unselfish and devoted life of good mothers and it is given to most children to revere and appreciate their own mother as the noblest expression of this intimate human relationship.

Certainly, the day has been commercialized in some respects but so widespread is the recognition of the fittingness of the occasion that Mother's Day stands apart from other days and special occasions. It will be so for many years, and worthily so.

It is well for men to revere motherhood but it is better for them to honor their own Mothers, who will be pleased to witness some expression of a love that should not be assumed. Let us all join to make living Mothers conscious of respect and love and to reverently remember the virtues of those who have gone on ahead.

STANISLAUS JR.-SR. PROM PROVES COLORFUL SPECTACULAR AFFAIR

On Friday, May 4, the Junior-Senior Prom was held at St. Stanislaus gymnasium with approximately five hundred in attendance.

The hall was spectacularly decorated, having as a theme, "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star." The walls were painted to represent native stone, and around the dance floor was an improvised white picket fence. On the outside of the fence were tables, on which blue candles burned, held in star-shaped candleholders. A profusion of blue balloons and streamers floated gracefully throughout the hall. The backdrop was painted to represent the sky, having a wagon with a girl and boy seated in it with outstretched arms to add to the striking effect. Fresh tulips were placed at intervals to make it appear a natural garden and the whole effect was one of beauty.

As each boy entered with his date a flood-light was played upon them and they were introduced. They then marched to their individual tables where the band serenaded them with a special request number. The couples made an interesting study dressed in summer tuxedos and filmy formal gowns. The music was furnished by Al Bellanca's band from New Orleans.

It is never safe for a rich country to assume that nobody will dare attack it.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

— By —
JAMES L. BISHOP
Soil Conservation Service

More than 9 million pounds of seed and other planting stock, with a market value of more than $1,800,000 was harvested in Mississippi last year as a direct result of Soil Conservation Service influence, State Conservationist C. B. Anders estimates.

This total includes some 32 species of grasses and legumes useful in soil and water conservation and represents about 57 percent of the total amount of these planting materials produced in the state last year. The state totals were estimated at 15,700,000 pounds, worth about $3 million dollars.

Farmers cooperating with local soil conservation districts in Mississippi produced the bulk of the planting materials, some 11,685,000 pounds, valued at $2,413,715. The Soil Conservation Service—primarily for expanding the acreage of new and little used crops in the soil conservation district program—produced a small amount of seed from observational plantings.

At recommended planting rates, the seed and other planting stock of the various crops produced as the result of Soil Conservation Service influence alone would provide effective ground cover from some 422,832 acres. Most of the plantings will be made, as a part of the farm plans developed with assistance of SCS technicians assigned to the districts.

Many of the plants are perennials, like sericea and bicolor lespediza, Kentucky-31 fescue, and kudzu. Others are reseeding annuals like Caley pea and reseeding crimson crimson clover. These remain on the same land year after year and continue to provide ground cover and to produce additional seed crops. Many also furnish hay and grazing.

Kentucky-31 fescue gives a good example of how many of these crops have come into widespread use through the soil conservation district program. This perennial grass was introduced into Mississippi largely through five-acre observational and seed-increase plots planted in every county in a soil conservation district in the state with seed produced in SCS nurseries and furnished to the districts.

Seed of Kentucky-31 fescue was originally purchased by the Soil Conservation Service from the B. F. Sutler farm near Flushing, Kentucky, and was increased in SCS nurseries. The grass had been growing in the Sutler farm for 50 years and was locally known as Sutler's grass. Sericea lespediza is another crop that has been given wide distribution through the soil conservation district program.

"You're in The Navy Now" At Hi-Way Drive-In Next Sun., Mon. & Tues.

A behind-the-scenes glimpse of what the United States Navy is and does furnishes the comedy and excitement in "You're in the Navy Now," Twentieth Century-Fox film starring Gary Cooper and Jane Greer, which is coming to the Hi-Way Drive-In Theater Sunday, Monday & Tuesday. Most particularly the picture concerns itself with the Navy's "30-day wonders" and the struggles with a top-secret projectile tried out with sub-chasers in World War II.

Gary Cooper, who returned to the studio where he played his first movie part as a cowboy in a Tom Mix picture for $10 a day, because he took extra "falls," has a talkie-clad role. An engineer who has never sailed a ship is placed in command of a new type of submarine—called the fastest thing on the seas—except that the mechanism of the ship is so mysterious it keeps exploding. And the crew, composed of a group of the service's top-notchers, including Millard Mitchell, Eddie Albert, John McIntire, Ray Collins, Jack Webb, Richard Arlen, Harry Lauter, and Harry Sinden, is also a collection of characters, particularly exciting about the day. The picture is a comedy, but it is also a drama, and it is a good one.

The location of the bridge is now history, but not type of history the folks hereabouts like to read. We realize now that they were "taken for a ride" by the honorable (?) highway commissioners and they are not exactly happy about it . . . but, of course there is a day of reckoning and we believe that day will be Tuesday, August 15th . . . the day the voters go to the polls to right their wrongs . . . there's no doubt in our minds how they will cast their votes . . . next Friday, May 18th will be graduation day at Bay High . . . a very eventful and never-to-be-forgotten day in the lives of some forty-odd youngsters . . . completing the first leg of their journey on the highway of life . . . for some it will be the end of their school days for life . . . for others it will have been just a preparatory period prior to their entrance into the field of higher education . . . although graduation day is one of happiness, looked forward to through the years, it is also one of sadness . . . because it brings to a close the happiest and most wonderful phase of our lives, memories of which will remain in our minds and hearts through all the years to come . . . our sincere congratulations to Larry Scharff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Scharff, on his selection as a member of the Mississippi Lions State Band . . . our congratulations also to Rev. Robert L. Lee, of the First Baptist Church, who had conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Theology, at the N. O. Baptist Theological Seminary, on May 2nd . . . this is the highest degree awarded at the Seminary, which makes us proud of Rev. ### EMERGENCY WEDDING TUES., WED. & THURS. AT STAR THEATRE

Larry Parks and Barbara Hale, that brawling and romping pair from "John Stag, Agent," are reunited in Columbia Pictures' new comedy, "Emergency Wedding," at the Star Theatre next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 15-16-17. "Emergency Wedding" is said to be the swift-paced, hilarious comedy of a couple who celebrated their courtship, engagement, nuptials and quarrel in less time than it takes to fall in love at first sight. The new comedy presents Parks as a young man with plenty of money and nothing much to do. Eternally hunting a career, he finally finds it—in being jealous about his new wife's own career. Miss Hale is the bride who won't even stay for breakfast because she has plans of her own.

The romantic conflict engendered by Parks' pursuit of his wife, and his wife's pursuit of her career, is complicated by the presence of an inordinately amount of stalwart males, all ready and willing to help the bride. According to advance reports, "Emergency Wedding" probably is the fastest film record of woon' coon' and booin' ever to emerge from Hollywood. Even Barbara's jaunt to Reno, in the comedy, is ended as joyously as her mile-a-minute dash to the nearest justice of the peace is begun.

Willard Parker heads the supporting cast of "Emergency Wedding" as a former admirer of Miss Hale who still remains her lawyer after her marriage.

It is Parker who supplies the straw which separates the newlyweds by arranging a surprise party which is mistaken by husband Parks as a rendezvous. Una Merkel and Alan Reed also contribute to the comedy which, according to Hollywood, is plentiful in "Emergency Wedding." The screen play was written by Nat Perrin and Claude Binyon. Perrin produced the film, which was directed by Edward Buzzell for Columbia Pictures.

"NO WAY OUT" AT THE DRIVE-IN, TUES. & THURS.

Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "No Way Out," the Twentieth Century Fox production of "No Way Out" in the Hi-Way Drive-in, Tuesday, Wednesday, a Thursday, 15-16-17, makes a formula of solid entertainment dispensable to few persons, and a most acceptable companion for a quiet evening's entertainment. The new film, based in its environment's elsewhere as "Meeting Ace," a yearly Award competition of the present year, reportedly bristles with more than a dozen screen tradition in carrying out its producer's wish to make a film that deals, in his own words, with the absolute blood-and-guts, the bread and potatoes, so to speak, of negro hating.

Darryl Zanuck, a name synonymous with many of the screen's most powerful and at once most popular motion pictures, selected "No Way Out" to be one of his infrequent personal productions while exercising his duties as production chief of the Twentieth Century-Fox studio. "Theme" pictures, those completely out of the formula pattern in subject, matter and purpose, and lending themselves to the kind of treatment which reaffirms the Shakespearean adages that "the play's the thing," are Zanuck's specialty. In the Joseph L. Mankiewicz-Lesser Samuels story for "No Way Out" he recognized immediately the kind of strong fabric from which could be woven an important cinematic creation.

Giving the project his personal attention in the capacity of producer, he assigned co-author Mankiewicz himself to direct. The combination of Zanuck and Mankiewicz on a single film is in itself enough endorsement for aware movie fans. With Zanuck twice recipient of the Thalberg Award, highest intra-industry recognition for a producer, and holder as well of two of the Academy awards, and Mankiewicz also professor of two of the Academy prizes, gained in a previous dual writing-directing assignment . . .

SHEEP DIPPING WILL BEGIN SOON

The time is approaching for the follow-up dipping of sheep for eradication of sheep scabies. This program was inaugurated in 1948 in 12½ counties under federal quarantine in South Mississippi and is conducted without expense to the flock owners by the State Livestock Sanitary Board in cooperation with the US Bureau of Animal Industry. A thorough coverage of all these counties was made during the shearing season of 1950 and it is felt that most sheep were included in the dipping program. Beneficial results following last year's dipping have been obvious, and it is anticipated that the splendid cooperation of flock owners will continue this current season.

Flock owners are urged to make an "all out" effort to include every sheep in the dipping program this season. This is particularly true of sheep under range conditions. The fact has been established from observations of last year's work that scabies can be eradicated in the quarantined area if all sheep are included in the program. Several inspectors will be assigned to the area by the Livestock Sanitary

SHOW WEAPONS
THURS. MAY 17

Company 'B' Members To Guide and Explain Material to Invited Public

Company B, 302nd Amphibian Tractor Battalion, will conduct a progress for the general public on Thursday, May 17 at the ORC Armory (old WOW Hall), 112 South Second Street, Bay St. Louis. Captain Lewis C. Allen, Commanding Officer, will be in charge of the event.

Movies depicting the various phases of Army life will be shown. The unit will also display automatic weapons, small arms, and other equipment which an Amphibian Tractor Company uses in its operations.

The Armory will be opened at 8:00 a.m. for the people of Hancock County, and guides will be on hand to explain the various types of equipment on display. This is the chance for local and surrounding residents to become acquainted with their modern Army and especially the functions of such a unique unit as an amphibian outfit. All children under the age of 16 must be accompanied by their parents. They will be no admission charge to witness the display or movies.

All residents of Hancock County and vicinity are urged to visit the ORC Armory in Bay St. Louis in order to become better informed on the training their local reservists receive. Young men from 17 years to 35 are invited to inquire regarding their chances to enlist and the opportunities offered in Company B. The unit at present needs approximately 10 addition reservists in order to reach Class 'A' status.

When the outfit is placed in 'A' status, its members will receive four pay days per month. The pay is the same as one day's pay in the regular army for corresponding pay drills. Reservists are paid quarterly; checks being sent out from Memphis, Tenn.

Ex-servicemen from all services are especially invited.
